Important

This document reflects the actual AMIX TEAM website model: informational and educational materials, trading signals and subscription access. AMIX TEAM does not accept or manage users' funds.

1. Nature of the materials

AMIX TEAM publishes information and training materials, market insights and trading signals describing possible entry points, stops, targets and risks. These materials are not a guarantee of results, individual investment recommendation, trust management, brokerage, dealer, stock exchange or depository service.

AMIX TEAM does not accept a user's deposit, retain client assets, execute transactions or gain control of a brokerage or exchange account. The user chooses an intermediary, makes decisions and is responsible for executing the transaction.

2. Key risks

- Market risk: price may move sharply against position, including gaps and impulses;
- shoulder and liquidation risk: a small movement may cause disproportionate losses;
- liquidity risk: the position may not always be closed at the expected price;
- sliding and delay: the actual price and time of execution differ from the signal;
- volatility of crypto-assets: round-the-clock trading , market fragmentation and sharp movements;
- counterparty risk: a broker, exchange, bank, stablecoin issuer or other intermediary may restrict operations, become insolvent or be hacked;
- technological risk: failure of a connection, terminal, API, device, source of quotation or cyberattack;
- regulatory and tax risk: availability of the instrument , rules and tax consequences depend on the country of use and may change;
- currency risk: the result may change due to the exchange rate of the account and calculations;
- Behavioral risk: Emotional decisions, increased positioning, averaging and trying to gamble increase losses.

3. Signals and analytics

The signal reflects the opinion and market situation at the time of publication. While a user reads a message or places an order, the price, liquidity and risk-to-income ratio may change.

A stop order does not guarantee the price of execution. During a period of gap, low liquidity or technical failure, losses may exceed the planned.

The published level of risk is an educational guideline, not a personal fitness assessment. AMIX TEAM does not know the financial situation, experience, tax status and allowable losses of a particular user unless otherwise agreed in writing and directly within the framework of a legal service.

4. Results and statistics

Past, model, demonstration, or sample results do not guarantee future returns. The R indicator is the result of a relatively predetermined risk and is not equal to a fixed monetary return for each user.

The actual outcome depends on the size of the account, commission, spread, financing, taxes, speed of execution, discipline and rules of the chosen platform.

5. Independent decisions by the user

Before the transaction, the user must assess the instrument, the maximum possible loss, shoulder, commission, liquidity, legal status and reliability of the intermediary.

No one can pass on a password, two-factor authentication code, seed phrase, private key or remote access to the device. AMIX TEAM does not ask for a trade deposit to be transferred to a team or individual account.

6. Social networks and external platforms

Messages may be distributed, copied, edited or published by fraudsters. Only links available from the Site are considered authentic. Telegram, Teletype, exchanges and brokers are independent services; their availability and operation are beyond AMIX TEAM's control.

7. User acknowledgement

By using the materials, the user confirms that he understands the risks described, acts voluntarily and independently, does not view the publication as a guarantee of profit and is responsible for the decisions, orders and consequences of the trade.
